

Editors – Éditeurs

Editors in Chief:

Natalie Ashton
Clare Bekenn

Senior Editors

Yerke Abildayeva
Adib Bencherif
Kirsten Campbell
Vanessa Kaori Sunahara
Adam Kiesman
Sacha LaVoie-Guilini
Madeleine Thiel

Editorial Board

Biola Agunbiade
Matthew Ritchie

Table of Contents – Tables des Matières

Doomed by Dumsor? Impacts and Implications of Ghana's Load Shedding Crisis

Chelsea Ruiter

Carleton University

Sexual Abuse and Exploitation at the Hands of Peacekeepers:

A Threat to the Legitimacy of Both the United Nations and Human Security

Kristina Rosa Proulx

University of Ottawa

Pour une nouvelle conceptualisation de la résistance à la marchandisation du carbone

Xavier P. Laberge

Université d'Ottawa

Food Security and Climate Change in Sub-Saharan Africa

Chase McGowan

Carleton University

La guerre civile en république centrafricaine: de l'exclusion des élites à la cooptation des groupes armés

Gino Vlaponou

Université d'Ottawa

The Statelessness of Syrian War Refugees: Seeking refuge through the universal human right to non-refoulement in international law?

Piratheeca Vimalarajah

Carleton University and University of Ottawa

Contributors – Auteurs

Chelsea Ruiter is an MA candidate specializing in international development policy and African studies at Carleton University's Norman Paterson School of International Affairs. In the summer of 2015, she spent two months in Ghana studying democratization and development policy as well as interning at the Ghana Centre for Democratic Development. She can be reached at chelsea.ruiter@carleton.ca

Kristina Rosa Proulx is a second-year Masters Candidate at the University of Ottawa's Graduate School of Public and International Affairs. Having previously worked as a research assistant at the Institute of Population Health, she currently works as a junior analyst at Global Affairs Canada. Her research interests include international development and globalization, public and global health, as well as multilateral institutions. She is currently working on her major research paper, which focuses on the influence of donor country interests on the provision of official development assistance towards maternal health and family planning programs.

Xavier P. Laberge est un doctorant en science politique de l'Université d'Ottawa se spécialisant sur les questions portant sur les changements climatiques et particulièrement sur les marchés du carbone. Il est détenteur d'une bourse du Fonds de Recherche du Québec - Société et culture (FRQSC) ainsi qu'une Bourses d'études supérieures de l'Ontario (BESO). Il a été candidat lors de deux élections québécoises et est aussi très impliqué dans les domaines syndical et associatif. Il peut être rejoint à xplab038@uottawa.ca.

Chase McGowan is a Master's Candidate at the Norman Paterson School of International Affairs at Carleton University in Ottawa, Canada. He graduated from the University of Alberta with a degree in Animal Health and his research interests include climate change and global health. He can be reached at chase.mcgowan@carleton.ca.

Gino Vlavonou est un étudiant au doctorat à l'École d'Études Politique de l'Université d'Ottawa. Ses centres d'intérêts sont la violence politique, les guerres civiles et les études de sécurité. Sa région géographique de prédilection est l'Afrique Centrale. Il a précédemment travaillé avec l'Institut d'Études de Sécurité au bureau régional de Nairobi au Kenya.

Piratheca Vimalarajah is a candidate in the Juris Doctor (Common Law) program at the University of Ottawa and Master of Arts in International Affairs program at the Norman Paterson School of International Affairs (Carleton University). She is involved in research on mobilizing the international community to address and prevent mass atrocities. Her research undertakes the mediation of human rights related to refugee crises, war crimes, international criminal justice and international humanitarian law, and international law. Her main focus is on international legal issues that arise in humanitarian crises as critical to finding solutions in the near and distant future.

Overcoming Crises: Challenges and Opportunities

Surmonter les crises: défis et opportunités